Celebrating A Forty-Year Milestone

Slipping into their tie-dyed Jamaican Independence Day T's and taking to the stage with the Real Deal Dance Group were a number of GTMO residents, including these three undaunted celebrants. The afternoon brought residents of all nationalities to Phillips Park for this annual celebration. See Page 4

School Days, School Daze

Back to School Information From The Parent Teacher Organization

The elected officers (Nicky Knighton, Cathryn Packard, Tina Schmitz, and Dasha Gariepy) of the PTO of W.T. Sampson Elementary School have spent the summer planning fundraisers and activities for the upcoming school year. The first of these events will be held on Friday, August 23 from 11:30 to 1:30 at the elementary school gymnasium. Parents and children are invited to come find out who their teacher will be for the upcoming school year. They will also be able to meet their teacher, however, classrooms will not be open at this time. The PTO will be serving a lunch that parents and children will not soon forget! We will be eating Gtmo's longest sub sandwich ever! Can you guess how long it will be? You'll have to come to find out! On this day we will be distributing the rules for our School T-shirt Logo Contest. Both adults and parents can submit their best drawing of our school mascot, the Sharks and the High School's mascot, the Pirates.

Our first PTO Meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 10. This meeting will be held in conjunction with Back to School Night. During our meeting, parents and children can vote for their favorite T-shirt logo. We will also be displaying the products that will be available for purchase through our Christmas Catalog Fundraiser. This fundraiser will give base residents a chance to do some early Christmas shopping. We will also begin sign ups for school photos. You won't want to miss this fun and informative meeting, complete with door prizes! Dinner will be available for purchase at a small fee.

We are excited to announce that we have arranged for school and class photos to be taken early in the school year. School photos are a PTO fundraiser in which we will be extending the service to the CDC, the elementary school and high school. Base residents will also be able to have professional family photos taken at Gtmo's most scenic lookout spot. We've arranged for a professional photographer to visit from September 18 to September 23. Families will be able to set appointments on Back To School Night.

Perhaps the program we are most excited about is our Room Helper Program. Statistics show that children whose parents are involved in their classroom are most successful. Ginny Markell, president of the National PTA said, "The more extensive a parent's involvement, the higher the student's achievement, and the more positive an attitude children have. Attendance rates go up, and there are fewer

GTMO Bids Farewell to DRMO's Alan Mickle

During the August 2 Cash and Carry Sale, DRMO's 32nd, Capt. Robert Buehn visited briefly to make a presentation to Alan Mickle, DRMO Site Manager.

Capt. Buehn congratulated Mickle for the professional way he has run the Defense Reutilization Management Organization facility here, and spoke of his honesty and foresight.

"It is nice to make this presentation to you in front of the customers and friends who you have served over the past four and a half years. On this base, DRMO is integrated with the community. You will be missed." Said Capt. Buehn.

Davis Gayle, who works with Alan in the two-man shop said, "not only will he be missed but his contributions to the GTMO community must be noted. He has done a lot to support both the Military and civilian communities. Under Alan's leadership, the DRMO has become a household name in GTMO. Our Cash and Carry sales draw large crowds each time we have one."

Alan has done a great job with the relatively new JTF commands as well, going way above anyone's expectations in getting them set up for business here.

Because of his unselfish efforts Alan was recognized as one of three DRMS Employees of the Quarter for the second quarter of this fiscal year."

On August 21st, Alan and his wife Mary PCS to South Carolina where Alan will continue his DRMO career at Fort Jackson.

Friday August 16, a farewell party for the Mickles is scheduled at the sailing center from 1800-2200.

While patrons take part in the 32nd Cash and Carry sale at DRMO, Capt. Robert Buehn steals Alan Mickles away from his computer and scanner to present him with a small token of this installation's appreciation for his many and varied efforts on our behalf. Mickles was instrumental in assisting commands in dealing with the force reductions that were taking place prior to 911 by helping them dispose of excess and unusable equipment and supplies. He then did an about face and utilized the many resources available to him through the DRMS system to bring in needed office furniture and other needed supplies on very short notice, almost single-handedly providing the materials to set up Joint Task Force commands with nearly everything they needed to get their offices up and running on the base. Mickles is moving on the Ft. Jackson South Carolina, where he promises to stay in touch and still support GTMO's needs wherever possible.

Bank Fees for ATM Only Accounts

Account Service charges and miscellaneous fees for ATM Only accounts were reinstated beginning February 1, 2002. While those fees had not been charged locally since being reinstated, they are now being charged due to increased lobby service requirements. Community Bank is providing a copy of the account service charges and fees for ATM Only Accounts to all Non-US Citizens who enter the bank.

Navy Legal Service Office Appointments

The new legal assistance attorney is scheduled to arrive on base Friday, 9 August, and LT Williams is departing a few days later.

So that work on existing client issues can be completed prior to the transition, our office is taking appointments for emergencies only next week (5-9 August). Our office hours will remain the same during this period and walk-in services should continue as normal, although there may be some unavoidable interruptions. We will do our best to keep any office closures to a minimum, but please call ahead before visiting our office. NLSO should resume normal service on Tuesday, 13 August.

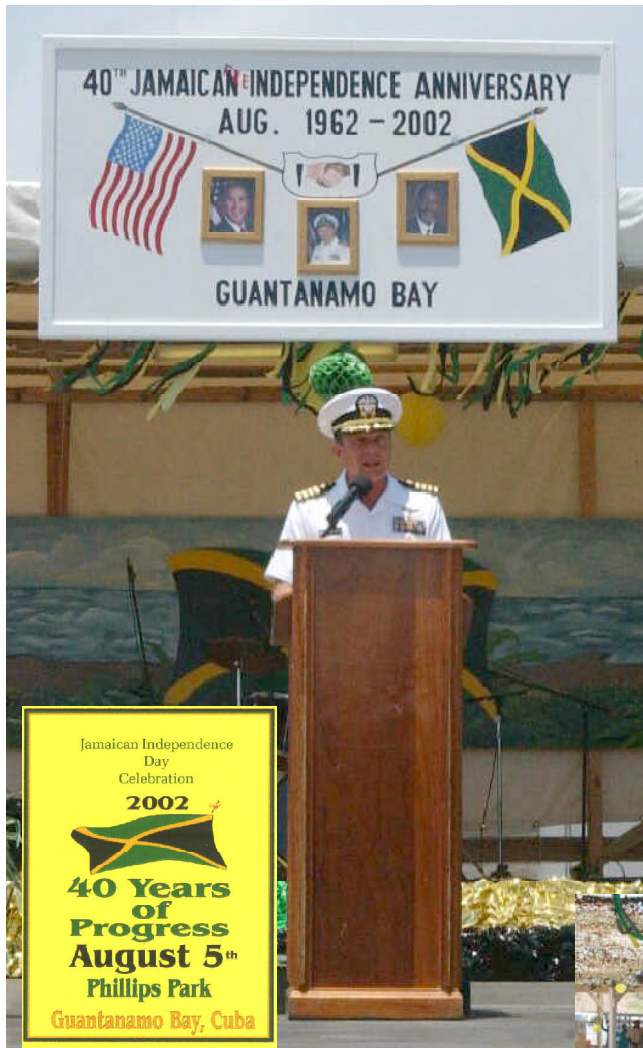

Project A-OK Helps Students Make the Grade

Your Navy Exchange wants to help pay for your child's college education. Through its Project A-OK program, your child could win $5,000, $3,000 or $2,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds. The last drawing for the 2001/2002 school year is at the end of this month. The first drawing for the 2002/2003 school year is the end of November.

Any eligible full-time student who has a B grade point average or better may enter the drawing. Eligible students include children

Jamaican Pre-Independence Day

The celebration began on ceremonial notes with the presentation of colors and the national anthems of the U.S. and Jamaica (above), addresses by Commander Naval Base, Capt. Robert Buehn (left), the U.S. Ambassador to Jamaica, the Honorable Sue Cobb (top right), and a keynote speech by the Honorable Floyd Morris, a Senator of the Ministry of Labor in Jamaica (right).

The rest of the day was dedicated to food, entertainment and fun!

(Right) Capt. Buehn leads the way through the food line as ticket holders and guests gather for the traditional meal under the pavillion at Phillips Park. The VIP table (below) flanked the center court area where much of the entertainment took place and certificates of recognition were presented to local Jamaican workers from their employers across the base including, Naval Station NEX, Public Works, FISC Supply, MWR, Naval Station Ordnance, the Fire Department, Naval Hospital, contractors and more.

Once the food appetites were satisfied, it was time for the entertainment which included dance contests (next page top left), games to bring people together (top right) traditional and fun presentations by the New Creation Band and Real Deal Dance Group (center page and bottom left). The band and dance troop also brought a number of residents to the stage for some fun attempts at dance numbers with the Real Deal dancers (bottom right). Festivities kept Phillips Parks jumping until late in the evening as community members came and went throughout the day in this celebration of the 40th year of Jamaican independence.

GTMO Celebration - Caribbean Style

Let's Dance! & play

the REAL DEAL

and MORE!!!

It's Not Just Any Night Out...

It began with a combination of a live broadcast from Cooper Field of the weekly "Open Line" program (below) with Capt. Robert Buehn and guests, and the emergency vehicle parade (left) which started in base housing areas and made it's way to Cooper Field down Sherman Ave. Once on Cooper field, the attractions were in all directions. Game booths manned by Chief Selectees, the MWR bouncer and rock wall (right), Naval Station's SAR helo and crew (far right) and much more...

The National Night Out is an annual event throughout the U.S. and at U.S. military bases around the world. GTMO's event, presented by the base security department, has won national recognition for the past seven years in a row and hopes that this year's event continues that tradition. One very important visitor during National Night Out is McGruff the Crime Dog (Left) who teaches kids how to stay safe and help "take a bite outta crime!" The Military Working Dog Demonstration (below) is a favorite of kids and adults alike.

It's the National Night Out!

Many kids bounce or climb for entertainment during the event, but others gather at attractions that you don't normally encounter in GTMO, like the Fire Departments' rescue team. The team demonstrated a stretcher lift using the ladder truck and rope and tackle gear (below left) to demonstrate the rescue of someone that may have been trapped at the bottom of a GTMO cliff, something the team did off Phillips Park just two days prior to this demonstration.

(Below) Young pilots got an opportunity to describe their favorite flight maneuvers to the Air Ops team members, who listened intently (but didn't take notes).

Nobody left hungry, without abundant safety information from the Fire Dept., MWR, Security Dept. and Base Safety Office, or without information on how to remain drug free from the DEFY program if they visited the main tent (below). It was here at the information and food tent that residents picked up their free food tickets for nourishment and insight into the vast amount of information and services available to keep us all safe and secure in GTMO.

At the conclusion of the evenings events, Security Department organizers gathered to pass out gifts. Tickets, passed out in the food tent, were used in a drawing to award a number of t-shirts and games to those in attendance. (Right) Drawing Master of Ceremonies, Walter Zapf (he's the one with the bullhorn), and his lovely assistants (beauty is in the eye of the beholder), passed out the booty to lucky people who held on to their ticket stubs. The gifts included "You've been in GTMO too long if..." t-shirts, National Night Out 2002 t-shirts and a number of popular family games.

Johnson Outdoors Inc. Recalls SCUBAPRO/ UWATEC™ Dive Computer Consoles

WASHINGTON, D.C. - In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), Johnson Outdoors Inc., of Racine, Wis., is voluntarily recalling about 1,700 SCUBAPRO/UWATEC™ dive computer consoles. The U-Line™ submersible pressure gauge that is part of the dive consoles can malfunction and display inaccurate pressure readings. Divers using the consoles could fail to decompress properly during a dive, causing decompression sickness.

CPSC and Johnson Outdoors Inc. have received four reports of the pressure gauge malfunctioning. No injuries have been reported.

Only U-Line™ submersible pressure gauges contained in UWATEC™ brand Smart PRO™, Pro ULTRA™, and Sport PLUS™ dive computer consoles are included in the recall. The consoles are mostly gray in color and the brand name "UWATEC™" is written on the front of each console. The pressure gauges are made in the U.S. and the computers are made in Switzerland. All of the recalled consoles have a test code that appears on the back of the gauge as listed in the chart below.

Aquatic sports, sporting goods and dive shops nationwide sold these gauges from January 2002 through May 2002 for between $500 and $700.

Consumers should stop using the recalled consoles immediately and contact SCUBAPRO/UWATEC at (800) 382-2211 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. PT Monday through Friday, or visit the firm's web site at www.scubapro.com. Consumers should send the console to SCUBAPRO/UWATEC, Attention: Tech Services/U-Line PG 1166 Fesler Street, El Cajon, CA 92020, to receive a replacement pressure gauge.

No other SCUBAPRO/UWATEC products are included in the recall.

WANTED: DEFY Program Mentors.

Enthusiastic, motivated, devoted, "fun spirited" and "childlike grown-ups" are needed as Mentors for the Drug Education For Youth (DEFY) Program. The DEFY Program is a prevention program and a joint partnership between the Navy, Marine Corps, Department of Justice and the U.S. Attorney to combat alcohol and drug abuse, as well as gang involvement. The prevention program is targeted at children between the ages of nine and twelve and is a comprehensive, 2-phase program emphasizing positive development of mind, body and spirit. Phase I is a structured 8-day non-resident camp that is scheduled for the 16-23 August, with graduation on the 24th of August. Phase II is a school-year-mentoring phase designed to support the training and education received in Phase I and focus on the youth's individual development.

Phase two consists of monthly classes and outings. The existence of the DEFY Program is fully dependent on volunteers. Make a difference in the lives of young Americans by becoming a Mentor. Help to build a stronger America, have fun and gain the satisfaction of knowing you have helped youth to develop to their full potential. To volunteer or learn more about the DEFY Program contact either SKCS Grewe at 4242 or LT Goldberg at 72035 or 7124.

Merlin

Creature Feature

"Creature Features" are submitted by The Guantanamo Bay Environmental Office

By Paul Schoenfeld
Natural Resources Manager

The Merlin (Falco columbarius) is another true falcon occasionally seen at GTMO where they are considered uncommon migrants. Their scientific name translates to dove-like hawk and they are sometimes called pigeon hawks due to the similar sizes and wing shape. Because of their rapid wing beat, they resemble pigeons/doves in flight. Merlins are also often referred to as miniature Peregrine Falcons. As a group, Falcons are known as the fastest birds of prey and Merlins can effortlessly reach cruising speeds of 45 miles per hour. Merlins are found worldwide breeding in northern latitudes and migrating into southern latitudes in winter. There are three distinct races of Merlin found in North America with the Tiaga race being the coastal migrant.

Merlins are easily recognized by their "sideburns", a dark line on their face running down from the eye. Males have blue-gray backs and rufous undersides with heavy dark streaks. Their tails are slate colored with a dark band at the tip. Females and juveniles are uniformly brown with lightly streaked undersides. Females are slightly larger than males, about 12 inches long with wingspans of 23 - 24 inches.

Merlins are efficient predators and feed on small to medium sized birds, almost always taken in flight. They have been known to take birds as large or larger than themselves. They will also feed on insects, rodents and small reptiles but birds are their primary prey. To consistently take birds "on the wing", Merlins must hunt in open country and generally occupy shorelines, open forests, or scrubland interspersed with open areas.

Merlins favor open woodlands and similar open areas for nesting also. Recently they have been seen nesting in urban areas. Like most Falcons, Merlins do not build a nest but take over old nests built by other birds. Nests are usually in trees, sometimes on cliffs, rarely on the ground, and almost never in a tree cavity. Two to five eggs are laid in early spring and both parents aggressively defend the nest and young. The young remain together after leaving the nest and may migrate south together.

DOD installations provide excellent habitat for Merlins, migratory birds in general, and many other species of wildlife. The geographic location of many DOD facilities coincides with nesting, migratory, and overwintering requirements which many migratory birds take advantage of. Large tracts of unimproved and semi-improved areas combined with developed/landscaped acreage at most DOD activities provide migratory birds, like Merlins, with habitats needed for survival throughout the year.

discipline problems." As a PTO we would like to facilitate parental involvement in the classroom. We need at least one Room Parent Leader for each classroom (if you are interested, call Toni Anderson at 7959). The Room Parent Leader will work closely with the teacher to coordinate the efforts of Room Helpers. Room Parent Leaders will be invited to attend an orientation luncheon hosted by Mrs. Debi Buehn. Room Helpers could be parents or other members in the community who want to contribute to the education of our children. They volunteer to read to children, assist in special projects and lessons, and work with the teacher to provide enrichment activities. We would like to encourage each parent to make a personal resolve to help in his or her child's classroom at least four times during the upcoming school year. We are convinced that such parental involvement will greatly enhance our children's education. We realize that most parents are very busy and many parents work. We figure that if everyone resolves to contribute just a little, our combined efforts can make a big difference. In fact our motto for the school year is, "Many hands make the work light, parents working together make children's futures bright!" We hope that all parents will want to get involved with their child's education, as a PTO we are here to facilitate that ever so noble cause.

If you would like to serve on a PTO committee, please contact Nicky Knighton at 7699.
